

MAY 2009

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
					1 If you have WiFi in your home what do you have?	2
3	4 Name one type of TV screen that is very thin:	5 One dot on a computer screen is known as a:	6 Most advertising dollars are spent on what medium?	7 The EPA cites three basic strategies for dealing with indoor air pollution. Name one:	8 Wood that is grown to be specifically used as fuel is also known as:	9
10	11 Name two of the five states that contain volcanoes:	12 How many micrometers are in one meter?	13 You have signed up for a company's listserv. What does this mean?	14 Who issues a software license to the end user?	15 Where can you find files on your computer even if you have deleted them?	16
17	18 The wise use of natural resources such as minerals, water, plants and animals is known as:	19 Great apes, snow leopards and pandas are all in danger of:	20 In technology, what do Kilobits-per-second measure?	21 What does spyware do?	22 What more familiar term is short for Web log?	23
24	25 Memorial Day	26 A company that provides direct access to the Internet, usually for a fee, is called?	27 To receive HDTV you need two things. Name them:	28 Name one time period that is usually considered "off peak" in most cell phone plans?	29 CDs became the most common software format, replacing floppy discs, for what main reason?	30
31					Notes:	